ground floor. Each house belongs to one parking space with the possibility of adding more parking spaces.
Interior
Particular attention is given to the organization and interior design to make the home stay as comfortable as possible.
The emphasis is on the natural light it has in abundance thanks to large glass surfaces. Contemporary style Arrangements with daylight and use of natural colors contribute to radiate the ambience with optimism and comfort.
The ground floor was performed as one fluid room in which the garden was extended, and it was conceived ...
